

Fine Foods of the Earth

Follow us for our delicious recipes!

Our History

We began in 1987 as an immigrant-owned grocery store servicing our community in Vancouver. Driven by his entrepreneurial spirit and love for food, founder, Dan On established Dan-D Foods in 1989 as an independent wholesaler. With hard work, wholesale trading diversified into nut roasting and snack manufacturing. Over the course of three decades, we have steadily grown to become an international top quality food manufacturer. Today, we are proud to make healthy, delicious snacks for our communities, whether in B.C., or elsewhere around the world. Our passion is to continue to innovate within our industry and to fulfill our customers' satisfaction.

Message from the Chairman

Cooking has always been my passion, and I quickly learned early on that delicious food cannot be made without good ingredients. That's why top quality is always my biggest priority. I want everyone to be proud of what they've made in their kitchen. I only hope Dan-D-Pak will always be a small part of their cooking journey.

Merchandising

Introducing our innovative cardboard display and spinner rack display, designed to revolutionize the way you showcase the products! These displays are not only easy to assemble but also remarkably sturdy, ensuring the products are presented securely and attractively. The spinner rack display takes things a step further, allowing for dynamic and space-efficient presentation, making it a perfect choice for maximizing visibility in busy retail environments. Elevate the product presentation with our cardboard and spinner rack displays, where aesthetics, practicality, and sustainability seamlessly converge.

Packaging Material

When we strategized how best to ensure top quality, we decided that manufacturing our own packaging was the next logical step. This vertical integration gives us control over our supply chain and our own packing processes. Today, we manufacture PET jars not only for ourselves, but also for our clients. We understand that packaging quality is just as important as the products they encase. That's why every facet of these jars - from their form to their function has been carefully considered after many iterations.

Private Label

Discover Dan-D Foods' exceptional Private Label service, where customization meets excellence. With unwavering quality commitment and diverse offerings, our Private Label empowers your brand to shine through products reflecting your identity.
